1. "One thousand meters east of Maarjamae, in the Kose region of Tallin, a number of underground galleries for the storage of ammunition and casemates were dug for units of the Baltic Fleet during 1953-1953. The galleries have horizontal entrances to which leads an automobile road: the galleries are dug 14-15 meters under the surface. The entrances are four meters broad and four meters high. It is said that there are vertical entrances (pits) to the galleries from the Laanamae airfield. The area around the entrances is fenced off with barbed wire and guarded by units of the Baltic Fleet.
